If one anemone can split in half to make two anemones, both anemones split in half again and then all of them split in half again, how many anemones do we now have?!

Make your own 3D anemone!

Maybe use an old loo roll as the body and then lots of string dangling off as tentacles. Anemones come in lots of different colours so make it as bright as possible. Project Seagrass would love to see a picture and know its name!

Anemones like to live anywhere from rock pools and seagrass meadows down to the deep ocean. Can you draw some anemones and their home?

8 anemones

List three anemone super powers:

- They can sting their prey.
- They can clone themselves by splitting in half, meaning they could potentially live forever.
- They live with no brain!
- They can eat, poo and have babies out of the same body part.
- They can pull all of their tentacles inside themselves (can you do that with your arms and legs?).
